Part 6. Households owed the main homelessness duty

6.1 This Part applies to every household the council owes the main housing duty under section 193 of the Housing Act 1996, whether the household is living in temporary accommodation the council has arranged or elsewhere, for example with family or friends. Such households are not placed in Bands A to C.

6.2 The council ends the main duty by a final offer of suitable accommodation: a social housing tenancy through the council's nominations to registered providers, or a private rented tenancy of at least twelve months arranged through Larkmoor Lettings. Both are move-on lets for the purposes of this Part.

6.3 Move-on lets are offered to households owed the main duty in the order of the date the duty was accepted, the earliest first. Households accepted on the same date are offered in order of case reference.

6.4 A move-on let has the number of bedrooms the household is assessed as needing on the date of the offer, under the bedroom standard in Part 3. A household whose need is reassessed keeps its acceptance date.

6.5 The number of move-on lets expected in each month, by number of bedrooms, is set out in the lettings team's move-on plan, which is reviewed each quarter and when a handover date changes.

6.6 A household may ask for a review of the suitability of a final offer under section 202. The offer stands while the review is decided.
