Brennock's block goes to the closing week, Monday 23 to Sunday 29 August

Thursday 1 July 2027 · on the book at 06:12 this morning · Fergus Roddy, Executive Housekeeper, for Edel McCay, Rooms Division Manager

We confirm the block to Brennock for Monday 23 to Sunday 29 August. On this morning's book the week is forecast to carry about 400 room-nights above the crew's 380 rooms a day, the most of the five roster weeks. The week that comes next is Monday 9 to Sunday 15 August, at about 200.

The concert week looks the biggest on a night-by-night pickup, which puts it at about 600, but Friday 13 and Saturday 14 August are already full with the two stadium concerts. Many of that week's late bookings in past Augusts were festival guests staying the week, and a stay is only sold if every night of it has a room, so this year they cannot book through the concert nights: in the last five seasons the stays booked after the confirmation date that ran through the same Friday and Saturday carried about 420 room-nights of the week's other five nights. Taking them out leaves the concert week at about 200, its two full nights and little else. The closing week has no full night and keeps its usual late bookings.

Forecast occupied rooms each night, Monday 26 July to Sunday 29 August 2027: the book at 06:12 on 1 July realised at each night's rate in 2022 to 2026, plus the stays booked after the confirmation date in those seasons (aligned on the festival's opening), less those through the two full nights. The full nights at 480 rooms less the event rate's no-shows.

Room-nights above capacity are each night's occupied rooms above 380 summed over the week (HK-04 3.2), rounded to the nearest hundred once. Last season's services and overtime and the 2026 block's billing are in the workbook housekeeping_block_2027.xlsx.
